Kastellorizo

Afternoon didn't start ~~until~~ until 3:30!

Kastellorizo ~~is~~ is only 4 miles from Kas and is a beautiful little town ringing the harbor -

We went up stairs near the ship and ended up in the square, 2 or 3 churches,

Taverna with man playing solitair, trees, flowers and rock paved plaza. We sat there a long time just enjoying the scene. The people were not in evidence, just heard. Also roosters! Finally we walked down a steep winding stair step street to the water - sat & had brandy & wine * and the door was closed. Soon I heard voices - the boat people, all soaking wet. I bought 2 scarves & a headband from my hostess ($14) and departed with many many thanks. Everyone was VERY wet - and the hallway outside the cabins looked like a clothes drier with hangers for all the railings

She brought me a chair. I sat by the open door so I could see anybody coming back down - by now it was raining furiously. She asked if I liked some tea (chi?) She brought some hot flavorful Tea in a small glass on a small saucer. We Tried to talk - smiled a lot. Her little boy (3?) woke up. She was sewing beads & shells on a turquoise scarf. A young girl friend who managed a little English joined us. By now it was raining torrents

(TOP)*

October 4 Saturday

we moved back to KAS at 7 am - To spand the am waiting for officials - very pleasant just hanging around

How to get here: 4 airplanes, 5 meals, no sleep and 33 hours - And here you are a little wobbly - but excited

The ordeal at the airport goes fairly quickly and soon we are on the boat - M/S Glushkov Reminds us very much of the last Russian boat - quite adequate but strange little quirks - like the shelf with holes for 3 BIG bottles

Rested about an hour, got sort of settled, had a good dinner (nice dining room) listened to some folk singers while Joe took a ~~shower~~ shower

Awoke at 6^{30} - we are floating on the river!
Breakfast, orientation, lunch — the river is so broad here - upstream from Iquitos - the sky vast, blue & full of huge clouds. the river is full of vegetable debris - entire trees to very ~~tiny~~ little plants. People on deck are talking quietly, reading, painting, bird watching, & some saw porpoises (not I) we come to the confluence, and make our choice of the Ucayali —

Roll #1 16-22

3:30 went in 2 small boats with outboards - proceeded onward very close to shore - wonderful!
the birders saw plenty of birds.
Saw old familiar plants & some new ones. saw several villages. Encountered a drenching rain - everyone had rain gear except me! After dinner stood in the prow & watched our progress with Adriena

After lunch I slept 1½ hrs. Went on the 3^30 boat trip up a little side ZAPOTE R waterway — narrow, winding + great — almost as good as Wilson Lake Swamp in a canoe! Saw so many things just enjoyed being there —

Roll #2
10 – 18

Got back to a ship tied up to a mud bank on the Zapote an FULL of bugs · We had our drink in the cabin ·

Watched a PBS video after a good dinner

Weds July 14

Fishing Trip - Zapote R. - I didn't catch anything - I went to watch red pirhanas, white piranha and some sardines - Rained like crazy on way up, but stopped when we got to fishing spot - a small tributary of Zapotea

Roll #2
19-29

Saw 2 blue morphos

After our return we resumed sailing up the canal de Puinahoa

Rest after lunch - Tourmaline moved on up the Puinahoa

Afternoon Trip into the Reserva -

Roll #2

Thurs July 15

Breakfast at 7 am and off in the motor boats into the Reserve 2½ - 3 hours - beautiful country - many birds monkeys + 3 sloths. water way twisted this way and that, beautiful trees all the way, Egrets by the hundreds, water hyacinth, other plants. Reached Ranger Station #2, pulled up to use the toilets + drop off lunch. Back in the boat, through ever narrowing channels to our "jungle walk" wonderful being in the woods again - however we ~~only~~ stopped for monkeys only - and I was a little frustrated. Joe slipped + got a little cut over eye - we were both treated like helpless idiots. Returned to Ranger Station - had lunch + then started the 2 hour boat ride home - Arduous but beautiful day -

Fri July 16

up at 5:30 to go on a 6 am Trip for ~~[illegible]~~ Breakfast in the lake! Alas I did not go - sore throat and developing cough - about 8:30 I was invited in the dining room to have a lovely solitary breakfast - plate of scrambled eggs juice biscuits + an ~~[illegible]~~ orange cut in 4 pieces - delicious! the lake breakfasters came back about 9:30 - Soaking wet! Poor Joe - we relaxed, Took pictures, read whatever on Top deck until 3:30 when we went in town by M'boat - Town + then a line up of people selling things - all pretty depressing —
